

CANEEL BAY, A ROSEWOOD RESORT

- ◆ Choice of Seven Powder-White Beaches
- ◆ Privately Located Within the Virgin Islands National Park
- ◆ Founded over Fifty Years Ago by Laurance Rockefeller
- ◆ Allows a Complete “Disconnect” from the Technology Driven World

No place on earth is further from the world's cares than Caneel Bay. The resort remains true to Laurance Rockefeller's original vision of simple splendor in a natural setting. Ideally situated on a 170-acre peninsula this striking property is surrounded by the flawless beauty of the Virgin Island National Park. Each room is unique with handcrafted furniture and in a style redolent of its original mid-century modern design. Children are entertained at Turtle Town, while adults restore mind and body balance at the Massage Cabanas. Free from modern day distractions, guests will find true escape from the technology driven world at Caneel Bay.

Opting for a little excitement, guests can visit St. John's main town, Cruz Bay, a short ride away where they will be greeted by a variety of shops, restaurants and bars. Day trippers can also explore the bustling island of St. Thomas which is just a short ferry ride away.

Profile: 166 rooms (no suites), one child under 13 free in parents' room, 3 restaurants, 2 bars, children's program, complimentary fitness center, 11 tennis courts, watersports, snorkeling, scuba diving, room service for continental breakfast and lunch only, no televisions or telephones in rooms. Located on 7 beaches, 45 minutes by taxi and boat from St. Thomas Airport, with nonstop flights to St. Thomas from many US cities. Seasonal Closure.
